So, what don't you know about the wonderful world of wood?

- The terms softwood and hardwood describe the leaves, seeds and structure of the trees rather than the type of wood they produce. So the next time you pick up a piece of timber and think it's a hardwood because, well, it's hard – think again.
- Ever wonder how many types of tree you've seen in your lifetime? Well more than 23,000 different species of trees can be found on Earth.
